Red China Is Negotiating With U.S. Allies for Purchase of Valuable Chemical Plants

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Red China is reported buying or negotiating for $200 million worth of chemical plants from Britain, Western Europe and Japan.

Informants said the Chinese already have ordered seven plants from West European countries and two from Japan, and about a dozen are under negotiation with British firms.

British businessmen are saying privately that the $200 million involved seems to be within China's capacity to pay because of an exceptionally good harvest this year.

The British government has been cool, however, to overtures from Peking to underwrite long-term credits to help build China's chemical industry.

An authoritative source said the British government, which insures exporters against loss, does not see the Chinese as a good long-term credit risk.

A positive response would also draw a sharp protest from the United States.

The Board of Trade earlier this year allowed up to $280 million of long-term credit to the Soviet Union for purchase of chemical plants. An equivalent sum is to be allowed smaller Communist countries of Eastern Europe for the same purpose.

The American and other Allied governments criticized these decisions.

The British government and British businessmen have the impression that the Chinese Communists are following the lead of the Russians in putting increasing emphasis on production of plastics, fertilizers and artificial fibers.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — It was a brushoff for a proposed shoe shine parlor with young women dressed in scanty costumes doing the polishing.

Another Faubus Lie, Eisele Says

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller's campaign manager, Tom Eisele, said Wednesday that Gov. Orval E. Faubus erred when he said Rockefeller had a Texas firm handling his organizational work.

"It's another Faubus fabrication," Eisele said. Faubus said Rockefeller had employed the firm that helped elect Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and three Republican governors in nearby states.

LBJ Will Talk at Texarkana on Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson starts out early Friday on a roundabout, four-stop trip to El Paso, Tex., the Eufaula Dam and the state fair in Oklahoma, and Texarkana, Texas-Arkansas.

There will be speeches at every stop during the 15-hour day, and a meeting at the outset with Mexico's president, Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

It had been known for days Johnson was going to dedicate a square and memorial on the Texas-Arkansas state line to the late President John F. Kennedy. Johnson will get together at El Paso with Lopez Mateos in the center of International Bridge. Then they will go to Bowie High School for speeches and placing new international boundary markers. The ceremony will mark the end of a long dispute over ownership of land along the border that has involved the neighbor nations.

From El Paso, Johnson will fly to Davis Air Force Base at Muskogee, Okla., and then go by helicopter to the Eufaula Dam site for dedication of a structure that will form Oklahoma's biggest lake.

Again by helicopter, the President will fly to the fairgrounds at Oklahoma City for another address.

From Oklahoma City, he heads for Texarkana by plane and after his speech there will go to his ranch at Johnson City, to spend Saturday and at least part of Sunday.

Current plans call for the President to return to Washington Sunday night before starting out on a fast jaunt around New England on Monday.

Pressure Is Cracking LBJ, Miller Vows

By ROBERT T. GRAY

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — President Johnson showed signs of "cracking under political pressure" when he referred to Sen. Barry Goldwater as a "raving demagogue," GOP vice presidential nominee William E. Miller said today.

Miller, on an extensive campaign swing through the West, questioned whether Johnson was up to the pressure of the responsibility for handling the issues of war or peace.

"Is this the kind of man we want to have his finger on the trigger of nuclear weapons?" Miller asked in a statement issued as he began another day of campaigning.

Johnson did not mention Goldwater, the Republican candidate for president, by name when he referred in a speech Tuesday night to a "raving demagogue," but there was general agreement that he had Goldwater in mind.

In suggesting that Johnson was too irresponsible to have control over nuclear weapons, Miller was turning on the Democrats the same argument they have used frequently against Goldwater.

Miller had no comment on a statement Wednesday by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., that the national candidates were conducting a "low-level, schoolyard campaign." Mundt called for the elimination of invective from the political debate.

Miller's schedule today listed a breakfast rally here and a flight to California for two days of stumping in a state Miller has termed "a strategic battleground" in the 1964 presidential contest.

He traveled Wednesday from Idaho to Utah, and into Portland, Ore., where he addressed more than 600 Republicans at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

"The wall in Berlin is a monument to the strength of communism and to the vacillation and weakness of this administration," Miller said.

At a news conference Miller said that the recent departure of Grant Reynolds, a Negro attorney, from the Republican National Committee, should not be considered a sign that Republicans have written off the Negro vote.

Miller said he had brought Reynolds into the national committee office, and that the new party chairman, Dean Burch, had followed custom in bringing in his own top aides.

Johnson to Ride in Convertible

TEXARKANA (AP) — President Johnson will ride in his bubble-top convertible in a motorcade through Texarkana Friday.

The President will be hereto dedicate a memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's car will be flown here from El Paso, where the President will make an appearance earlier in the day.

The top of the car will be closed.

Declares Estes Scandal Taints Johnson Group

By WALTER R. MEARS

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater charged today the taint of the Billie Sol Estes scandal still marks President Johnson's administration.

Campaigning across the Farm Belt, Goldwater declared the Estes affair casts "grave reflections right across the White House itself."

The Arizona senator called the case "more than just a scandal, a sordid picture of favoritism and fraud."

"It is a study in the operations and attitudes of some of the top officials of government — many of whom are still with us," he said.

Goldwater turned to the Estes case in a speech prepared for delivery at Mason City, Iowa. He opened his campaign day in Wichita, and was due later at Madison, Wis., for a statehouse rally before moving on to Boston.

Taking aim on the Democrats' handling of farm problems, Goldwater declared: "When partisan political favoritism, or payoffs and bribery, become involved in any government program, the seeds of destruction have been planted."

"Incompetent or corrupt administration of a bad program can make it worse," he said.

"It is up to the President to expose wrongdoing in government," the senator added. "But the interim president, whose office dealt with Billie Sol, does not press for exposure."

"His power is used for different ends — and the White House has been turned into the white-wash house," he added.

Estes, the financial operator from Pecos, Tex., is free on bond pending appeal of state and federal convictions for fraud.

Goldwater fired a series of brief shots at Johnson on the Estes matter as he campaigned in Texas Tuesday and Wednesday.

He saved his point-by-point review of the case for the Farm Belt. Goldwater said Midwest farmers may not be interested in the cotton program Estes manipulated — "but the dishonesty must concern us all."

Rockefeller Barred From Fair at Morrilton, Others Report Similar Incidents in State

MCCRORY, Ark. (AP) — A supporter of Winthrop Rockefeller for governor said today he was asked to leave the Woodruff County Fair because he and his family were wearing Rockefeller uniforms.

Jack Thomas of McCrory, who said he was ousted, charged incidents are happening all over the state.

Minor Gibson, manager of the fair, said he asked Thomas to leave because "his crew was handing out Rockefeller bumper stickers and literature."

"He added, 'I don't have anything to say about it. The fair board agreed not to have any kind of political advertising.'"

Thomas denied that he was handing out literature. He said that he wore a western style Rockefeller hat to the fair and that his wife, Irma Lee and daughters, Linda, 14 and Lisa, 16, wore Rockefeller uniforms.

He charged that Gibson was "playing up that they don't want political activity." (Gov. Orval E.) Faubus doesn't need it. He has his henchmen. They're out to suppress and gag the Rockefeller supporters."

Gibson said that Thomas had been denied permission last week to put a Rockefeller booth at the fair.

"He had contacted us and we had made a decision," he said. "And he can't get it through his head that we're not trying to be partial."

Gibson added, "People come out here to have a fair, not to fuss and fight over candidates."

Thomas said the incident, "really shook me up. I don't know what to think, but they say down in Little Rock that it is happening all over the state."

He added that he felt it was a violation of his right to demonstrate his political beliefs in a public place.

Thomas, a retired Navy veteran, has lived in McCrory two years and works as an office manager at Newport.

Winthrop Rockefeller was asked not to speak at a fair opening in Morrilton Wednesday, and did not.

Rockefeller supporters reported a week ago that their booth at the Perry County Fair was ordered taken down because the fair board did not want political activity at the fair.

By JOHN R. STARR Associated Press Writer

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller failed to get a forum in his "home" county Wednesday, but he came away feeling he had gotten his point across.

At the request of the Conway County Fair Board, Rockefeller cancelled plans for a public speech in a downtown park.

Instead, he addressed a small but enthusiastic gathering in his headquarters and made a broader appeal over radio station KVOM.

Rockefeller did not rebuke the fair board, but he said on radio, "It always occurred to me that in a free country, everyone would welcome candidates on either side during a political campaign." (Continued on Page Two)

Evacuation in Wake of Calif. Brush Blaze

By DIAL TORGERSON

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Frightened people scurried from their homes early today as fingers of flame from a raging brushfire moved into the outskirts of this besieged town.

Pushed by 40-mile-an-hour winds, one front on the fire line extended below the foothill road boundary and was moving into the city.

Observers said firemen were making a stand at each house threatened, but that the winds keep pushing the fire onward. Cement delivery trucks have been pressed into service as water carriers.

U.S. Forest Service officials also reported that a second fire broke out early today in the nearby San Marcos Pass area. Equipment was being rushed to the scene.

By dawn, the blaze had charred more than 16,500 acres of valuable watershed, and no control was in sight.

Officials said as many as 5,000 persons have been forced to evacuate, some of them having to leave their homes twice as the flames died down, then rose again.

Witnesses said that at least 37 homes or other buildings have been destroyed, though the Forest Service could not confirm more than 24.

Some residents fled with only their clothes and a horse trailer—holding the family horse—as the blaze plunged down mountain canyons toward town.

Contrary to earlier reports, the Mt. Calvary Monastery, an Episcopal retreat, was not destroyed. Witnesses said the fire surrounded the structure but passed on without doing much (Continued on Page Two)

Hubert Keeps Up Attacks on Goldwater

By HARRY KELLY

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, campaigning along the sidewalks of New York, said today that Sen. Barry Goldwater "is giving us neither a choice nor an echo, but a baffling, bewildering blur."

"No man asking the American people to elect him as president," said Humphrey, "has the right to make cryptic, often ominous remarks and then leave the electorate to discover their meanings."

Humphrey was to team up with Robert F. Kennedy — running for the U.S. Senate from New York — in campaigning the big New York City, but he may have to return to Washington later today.

The Senate is due to vote in its long battle over trying to delay court-ordered legislative reapportionment and the White House told Humphrey by telephone that his vote might be needed.

Humphrey whipped through Indiana Wednesday, speaking at rallies until he was hoarse, shaking hands with school children and singing the praises of President Johnson.

Today, in remarks prepared for the New York City Central Labor Council, Humphrey said he wanted to take some statements Goldwater has made and "ask him what they mean."

"Because Sen. Goldwater specializes in dark, obscure pronouncements," said Humphrey, "I can only begin the task of questioning today. The backlog of confusing utterances is considerable — and growing every day — but let us begin with a few of the choicer ambiguities."

Humphrey recalled Goldwater's interview in the German news magazine Der Spiegel June 30 in which Goldwater was asked whether as president he would be willing to go to the brink of war.

He quoted the Republican candidate for president as replying:

"Yes, just as your country — that is, Germany — has used brinkmanship down through the years and done so very, very successfully."

Humphrey charged that no one "with common sense" could applaud German brinkmanship, which, he said, had been "disastrous for Germany and the other nations of the world" in two world wars.

Two dormitories burned, however, at nearby Westmont College. The fire also swept into Montecito, where 20 more homes were reported burned.

Flames leaped hundreds of feet, reflecting off a towering lull of smoke. People saw the fire in Los Angeles, 98 miles southeast, and from ships 30 miles at sea.

In Santa Barbara itself — a community of 60,000 nestled between the sea and the Santa Ynez Mountains — it seemed like the hills were a mass of flame. The smoke-cloud glow lit a city in turmoil with milling evacuees and rushing fire engines.

The fire was the worst of five great blazes burning in California. Four others in the northern part of the state have burned 73,000 acres and 225 buildings, including farm structures.

A howling Santa Ana wind — the wind which blows to sea from California's desert interior — set the Santa Barbara blaze racing for the city with dramatic suddenness at dusk Wednesday.

At 7 p.m., U.S. Forest Service men thought the fire was moving into the Santa Ynez Valley over the mountain ridge inland of the city. It was the second time the fire had moved away from Santa Barbara. Winds were mild; the temperature 74.

Then the Santa Ana — the "devil wind" of Western lore — hit. In eight minutes the mercury was at 90 degrees, the wind 50 m.p.h.

Editor The Star: I would like to take this means to express my apologies to the citizens of Hope, particularly to Mr. Lloyd Spencer, my employer and president of the First National Bank of Hope, for my recent betrayal of trust.

Many unfavorable rumors, some involving my wife, Lanora, have been passed from one to another these past few days regarding my act of embezzlement of bank funds. I want it publicly known to all that I, on my own volition, admitted this act — and that I, and only I, am responsible.

I pray to God for forgiveness for having broken one of his sacred commandments and I pray too that I can one day re-join myself as a citizen and be welcome in the city of Hope.

Bond Issue Set for Conway Vote

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Voters here will decide Oct. 27 whether to issue a $155,000 bond issue to improve the airport and the city hall. The city hall would get $92,500 of the issue, which would be supported by a two-mill tax.

Voters also will decide whether to levy a one-mill tax to support a recreational program. The three mills would not result in a tax increase. They would replace a hospital tax of three mills which expires this year.

Chrysler cars for 1965 are completely new automobiles with a longer wheelbase, increased interior room, more powerful engines and improved riding comfort. Long and low, the 1965 Chrysler line consists of 17 models in three series—New Yorker, the Sports 300, including the 300L, and the Newport. This is the New Yorker two-door hardtop. All engines in the new Chrysler cars have refinements in carburetor control mechanisms, ignition systems and electrical components designed to extend reliability and provide quiet, trouble-free operation. Among the fresh styling features are extra side windows in the New Yorker and Newport four-door Town Sedans, both new models for 1965, giving them a total of six side windows. The 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty on engine and drive train components is continued on the 1965 Chrysler.

campaign.

Earl Sutton, chairman of the board asked Rockefeller not to speak and Rockefeller voluntarily agreed to cancel the engagement which was scheduled about two hours before a parade which opened the fair.

"We have tried to keep our organization out of politics," Sutton said. "We discussed having a candidates' night, but we felt there might be some radical feelings."

Sutton said the board discussed Rockefeller's planned speech and decided that it might give political overtones to the fair.

"Any gathering in town is because of the fair and the parade," Sutton said. "It (Rockefeller's speaking) might get the fair association some criticism."

Sutton said he had no personal bias against Rockefeller and that, indeed, he was supporting the Republican candidate in the governor's race. He wore a "Democrats for Rockefeller" button to show where he stood.

At one time a rumor circulated that the parade might be cancelled if Rockefeller attempted to ride it. This proved to be only a rumor. Rockefeller got the place of honor in the first car behind the police escort.

His opponent, Gov. Orval E. Faubus, was represented by three stricker-plastered cars which followed the Morrilton High School band.

A local beauty sat on the hood of one of the Faubus cars and she and those inside chanted constantly, "We want Faubus."

Rockefeller supporters had about a dozen cars in the parade.

The GOP candidate arrived at his headquarters 45 minutes behind schedule and 45 minutes before the parade was to start. He shook as many hands as he could reach and then told his supporters that he would be back.

After the parade he told the group that he had intended, in his public speech, to discuss his plans for increasing tourist traffic in Conway County.

The key in his plan is a "museum of Automobiles" which he said will open at Winrock Farm on nearby Petit Jean Mountain in about a month.

Rockefeller said that about 125,000 tourists already visit the farm each year and he told his listeners that each tourist spends about $20 a day.

"If we can keep them in Conway County for a whole day, that's $20 more in your pockets," he said.

In his radio talk, Rockefeller said, "This isn't the first place where I've been invited not to speak, and I'm sure it won't be the last."

He told a supporter privately that he feels he has gained votes in each area where officials have refused to let him speak.

The coolness toward Rockefeller in his home county is due to the fact that he has been critical of the county political structure and has been identified with persons who have been strongly critical of Sheriff Martin Hawkins, a dedicated Democrat and staunch supporter of Faubus.

Rockefeller turned a Faubus campaign slogan, "Keep progress alive in '65," to his advantage.

"I want to create progress on an ascending scale," he said. "I'm not satisfied with just keeping progress alive."

He said that voters have a choice in this election between a "man with a plan" and a "man who glorifies the past."

Rockefeller reminded listeners that Faubus has said that he would get in a truck and run over racial demonstrators, and ed to ride it. This proved to be only a rumor. Rockefeller got the place of honor in the first car behind the police escort.

His opponent, Gov. Orval E. Faubus, was represented by three stricker-plastered cars which followed the Morrilton High School band.

Democrats Name Campaign Chief

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Democratic Party leaders announced Wednesday that Little Rock attorney Jack Files has been appointed director of the Arkansas campaign.

Leon B. Catlett, party chairman from Little Rock, and Tom Harper, national committeeman from Fort Smith, announced the appointment of Files and that of Joe Smreker of Fort Smith as treasurer and finance chairman of the state campaign committee.

A state headquarters also was opened to "provide a focal point for statewide efforts in vigorously supporting the campaign of President Johnson and all other Democratic nominees in Arkansas."

he asked, "Is this the kind of example you want for your boys and girls? I don't think it is."

Rockefeller made every effort to introduce himself as "home-folks." His farm is only a few miles from Morrilton and children of his employees go to school here.

The neighbor image didn't get across to one bystander, obviously a Democrat, who snapped, "He don't neighbor with us except at times like these."

But there were others who did treat Rockefeller like a neighbor. A small girl kissed his cheek and farmers and townspeople crowded around to shake his hand every time he stopped.

Now on display: the most beautiful Chrysler ever built.

This is Chrysler '65. The big one that delivers. Luxury that reflects your good taste, for one thing. A fast answer to your demands, for another.

Look at it. Clean-lined. Big. Beautiful. Eighteen feet of comfort. Two tons of security. Called Chrysler.

It's easier to get into and out of. There's lots of headroom, and legroom and hiproom.

Get in and drive it. The first thing you'll notice is best described as "scorch." Model 1965 is a very quick automobile.

And there's an improvement in ride you can really feel.

One more point. A Chrysler isn't all that expensive. Seven Newport models are actually priced just a few dollars a month more than some of the most popular smaller cars.

Visit your Chrysler dealer and see them all: economical Newport; sports-bred 300; and the luxurious New Yorker. Move up to Chrysler. Model 1965. The man who sells them will make it easy.

Hopman Still Tries to Play It Tough

By WILL CRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Stolle, No. 2 man on the Australian Davis Cup tennis team, gulped down a glass of foamy beer and lit a cigarette.

Roy Emerson, his teammate, nonchalantly blew cigarette smoke into the air. He smiled at his pretty wife and bounced his young son on his knee.

Harry Hopman, the dour Australian captain, looked — but said nothing.

Could this be Harry Hopman, the feared Captain Bligh of the tennis courts?

Could this be the man who once fined his players two shillings for picking up the wrong fork at a dinner table, the martinet who refused to let wives accompany members of his team who forbade drinking and smoking and invoked strict 10 p.m. curfews?

It was the same — but his whip was gone.

Today his chief importance as Davis Cup captain is to wipe off the racet handles and hand his players a glass of orange juice on the change of courts.

Hopman still tries to play it tough. He acts as if he's chief of an Australian Gestapo.

He is a scrawny, sandy-haired ex-newspaperman who walks around as if he just bit into a lemon. He treats the press with disdain. He bars interviews with his players. He tries to keep his team secluded behind a velvet curtain.

The man who once was labeled Harry the Fox has been unmasked as a frustrated Caesar whose chief value to the team is to see that it is well-stocked with towels and soap after workouts.

Once many persons regarded him as a genius responsible for his country's long string of cup successes.

Since 1950 he has had access to the best tennis talent in the world but Australia lost the cup three times, 1954, 1958 and 1963 — always to U.S. teams admittedly inferior.

Hopman's best job was with younger players. He is a good conditioner and disciplinarian. But when his pupils matured — players such as Frank Sedgman, Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall and Rod Laver — they always resented his continued efforts to treat them like school kids who have played hooky.

Such is the case with Emerson and Stolle.

Hopman tells them they shouldn't talk to newsmen. They laugh, and they talk. He tells them they shouldn't drink or smoke. When they get thirsty, they knock off a glass of beer. They smoke when they please. Both are employed by cigarette companies.

Emerson, 27, and Stolle, 25, no longer are children. They rebelled earlier this year against Australian tennis officialdom — and the Aussie brass begged them to come back and help get back the cup.

They came back, but on their own terms. And these terms apparently don't include too much guidance from the subdued Hopman.

entifying the object in question. The hostess served cake, nuts and punch for refreshments.

A sewing session and potluck luncheon is planned for the October meeting in the home of Mrs. Boyce. It is hoped that all members will come and bring sewing materials and such needed items as portable sewing machines.

Congress May Have End in Sight

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — For some of the country's top-ranking commuters, the end of a strenuous and expensive period may be in sight.

These commuters are members of both houses of Congress who have been trying to campaign for re-election at home and also maintain a proper attendance record on Capitol Hill.

Their hopes were high today that the Senate may be nearing a settlement of the reapportionment dispute that has stalled adjournment.

They can now expect to come back to Washington once more — for a burst of work that could wind up the session next week — and then go back to the home grounds for intensive speech-making and hand-shaking until Nov. 3.

Congress had hoped to adjourn before the Republican National Convention in July, or at least before the Democratic convention in August. Instead, it found itself still meeting, still with an unfinished backlog of work, late in September — long after the traditional opening period for the campaigns that involve all seats in the House, one-third of those in the Senate.

Some members, with little or no opposition, could stay in Washington with no great hardship, even if they would rather be at home; some confined their campaigning to long weekends, but many left for protracted tours in the districts.

The double life, legislating in Washington and campaigning at home, runs into money — especially if home is across the country. Members are reimbursed for three round trips a year; the cost of further shuttling is on them.

The Senate had to adjourn abruptly three times last week, and the House once, when someone forced a quorum call on what had been billed as a quiet day. There just wasn't a majority of members on hand.

Pending Rail Strike Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a nationwide rail strike by firemen and engineers was postponed for 60 days today as President Johnson created an emergency board to look into the labor dispute.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers had threatened a strike against many of the nation's major rail lines Friday morning in support of wage demands that include a proposed 25 per cent across-the-board increase.

Johnson's action in creating an emergency board automatically defers the strike threat for 60 days while the board, to be appointed later, studies the situation.

The President's action was recommended by the National (Railway) Mediation Board which said that the threatened strike "would interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive much of the country of essential transportation service."

The board told Johnson, the wage dispute had been "intensely mediated and that a proper of arbitration was declined by the labor organization."

H.E. Gilbert, union president, said Wednesday that more than 99 per cent of the membership had voted to strike if the union's wage demands are not met. Current wage demands were served on the carriers Dec. 2, 1963.

"We have had our fill of futile negotiations and management favoritism," Gilbert said in a statement. "It is unfortunate for the public that railroad negotiators only understand strike language and never negotiate until there is a crisis."

The threatened strike, third major one since April in this industry, could result in a virtual nationwide rail tie up.

If this threat is to end, however, it appears the next move is up to President Johnson. He can appoint an emergency board under the Railway Labor Act to report on the dispute. This would delay any strike action at least 60 days.

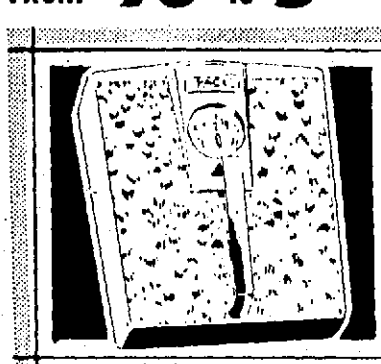

Employees represented by the union got their last wage increase of 56 cents a day March 1, 1961. A union spokesman said the average daily rate for firemen is $21.60 and $25 for engineers.

A strike threat against the railroads by 150,000 shop workers over job security was settled tentatively Tuesday. Six shop craft unions were involved in that dispute.

Last April the White House settled a nationwide rail dispute by five train-operating unions.

Bucks Rated Team to Beat in District

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

Traveling to Smackover to open the conference play for the Bucks, the Bobcats face one of 4AA's toughest teams in what Coach Alan Howard calls a "must" game.

"We feel like we face the two toughest teams in the district these next two weeks," stated Coach Howard, "and we're going to have to beat them both to stay in the running."

After the Bucks, the Cats will play host to the Malvern Leopards, rated as a "popular dark horse" in pre-season picks.

As they always do, the Bucks are fielding an excellent team this year. They have an 11-1 record thus far, and already have a regional win.

After coming out in first place in the Camden Jamboree, Smackover dueling long-time rival El Dorado to a scoreless tie with quite an exhibition of defense. El Dorado was rated as one of the top teams in the state.

The following week the Bucks opened their bid for the 4AA crown with a 13-7 win over the Cardinals of Fairview, no slouch of a team themselves.

The Bucks have a balanced attack. They sit left as well as right and like to run power plays.

Exceptional on defense, the Bucks use an eight man line.

They have had a grand total of seven points scored against them. Outstanding on defense are 190-pound guard Wilkins and 202-pound Taylor.

Warren is a hard running half-back. Reggie Spreights can handle his share of the running game, also.

Reds Think They Have Got It Made

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds think they've got it made now and can go all the way to the National League pennant.

Acting Manager Dick Sisler said the three-game sweep of the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies "gives us the chance we need and we intend to stay hot."

The Reds are just 3½ games back now, after defeating Philadelphia 6-4 Wednesday night.

They have the day off today before starting a five-game series in three days against the last place New York Mets at Shea Stadium.

"I don't like the idleness," said Sisler. "We have a chance and we have to stay hot. We can't afford to lose."

Vada Pinson, whose two homers provided the Reds' victory margin said in the happy visitors' dressing room in Connie Mack Stadium "We're smelling that series money now, and we don't intend to let it go."

Sisler, noting the Reds have won seven of their last eight, said "The pressure is not on us one bit. We're loose. We're playing good ball. It's the Phillies who are hurting."

Phil's Manager Gene Mauch, however, shrugged off the suggestion that his team may be pressing too much.

"Baloney," he said. "We're on top and that's where we're going to stay."

"The pressure started in Florida, during spring training. We were determined then that we had the stuff to win. We know we still have it. And we will."

Sisler said Cincinnati has the momentum to win the pennant now, and points out that the Phils must play the Reds twice more and St. Louis three times. The Cards are 5½ games back.

Seattle Open Led by Canadian

SEATTLE (AP) — Al Balding, a thin Canadian hungry for victory, led the pack today in pursuit of the loot in the $40,000 Greater Seattle Open golf tournament after shooting a six-under-par 64 in Wednesday's opening round.

Fifty-three professionals carried sub-par scores into the second round, the golf tour's biggest assault on par since 59 cracked the standard in the first 18 holes of the Insurance City Open at Hartford, Conn., in July.

Shooting for his first major victory since winning the 1963 Canadian PGA crown, Balding had no choice but to keep putting pressure today on the Broadmoor layout's par-70.

Bracketed with him at 65 were Johnny Pott, Al Geiberger, Frank Wharton and Jack McGowan. Bobby Nichols, the defending champion, was lost in

Redlegs Again Beat Phils in Stretch Drive

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can 63,000 Philadelphians be wrong?

Yes, say the Cincinnati Reds, and they're playing as if they mean it.

The charging Reds defeated the National League-leading Phillies 6-4 Wednesday night for the third straight time and moved to within 3½ games of the top. No one has been that close to Philadelphia since San Francisco was three games out Aug. 11.

The Phillies' fifth loss in their last six games came, ironically enough, on the day they began accepting orders for World Series tickets. Postmen delivered 18 sacks of mail holding more than 63,000 ticket requests.

The Reds weren't accepting orders, but they had authorization to print tickets. They also had optimism.

"We're smelling that Series money now, and we don't intend to let it go," said Vada Pinson, whose two homers in consecutive innings brought the Reds their seventh victory in eight games.

Philadelphia Manager Gene

Mantle, Maris, Ramos Key in Flag Drive

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris and Mel Stottlemyre and Pedro Ramos. All good reasons why the New York Yankees have taken an imposing four-game lead in the American League pennant race with only 10 games remaining.

But the Yankees may actually have started moving to the front of the pack when Yogi Berra stepped to the back of the bus.

That was the day the Yankee manager blew the whistle on Phil Linz and his harmonica playing, the discordant notes apparently resulting in a greater harmony that has carried the Yankees from 4½ games behind to four in front.

Since Linz went "toot, toot" on his $2.50 mouthpiece, the Yankees have played .727 ball with 24 victories in 33 games, including the sweep of a doubleheader from Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings and 6-4 Wednesday night.

And Linz, who hasn't played his harmonica since Aug. 20, figures to get his chance soon. He has made this promise:

"If we clinch the pennant, I'll bring my harmonica into the dressing room and play a tune. The only notes I know now are 'Way Down Upon The Swanee River.'"

Lake Erie would be more fitting.

The doubleheader sweep against the Indians was the Yankees' second in two nights, gave them a 9-0 record at Cleveland this season and extended their latest winning streak to nine while lowering their magic pennant-clinching number to six.

Any combination of victories by the Yankees and losses by the runners-up will bring New York its fifth straight pennant.

Baltimore and Chicago wound up the day tied for second place, the Orioles losing to Detroit 10-3 while the White Sox defeated the Los Angeles Angels 2-1.

Though not impossible, the pennant chances of Baltimore and Chicago have almost vanished. Should the Yankees win only half of their 10 remaining games, the Orioles and White Sox would have to win all eight of their games to get a tie.

In other AL action, Washington edged Boston 1-0 and Minnesota nipped Kansas City 2-1.

Cincinnati closed to within 3½ games of National League leading Philadelphia by beating the Phillies 6-4, the New York Mets downed St. Louis 2-1, San Francisco defeated Houston 4-1, Pittsburgh whipped Milwaukee 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs outslugged the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6.

Ramos, who came to the Yankees from Cleveland Sept. 6, came on in relief to nail down both victories against the Indians. He pitched the 11th inning of the opener without allowing a hit and checked the Indians on one hit over the final 12-3 innings of the nightcap while striking out four.

Elston Howard stroked the key blow for the Yankees in the first game, a leadoff homer in the 11th. Howard also scored what turned out to be the decisive run in a three-run fifth inning uprising in the second game, racing home as reliever Tommy John uncorked a wild

Mauch disagreed. "Baloney," he declared. "We're on top and that's where we're going to stay."

The Phillies have nine games remaining while Cincinnati has three more losses than the leaders, has 1 to play.

The remaining Phillies schedule has them hosting Milwaukee in a four-game series starting tonight, then traveling to St. Louis for three games before finishing with two at Cincinnati.

The Reds have an easier time — at least on paper — meeting the Mets in New York five times, then returning home for three games with Pittsburgh and the final two with the Phils.

In other NL games Wednesday, New York nipped St. Louis 2-1, San Francisco defeated Houston 4-1, Pittsburgh trimmed Milwaukee 7-4 and Chicago downed Los Angeles 9-6.

In the American League, New York swept Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings and 6-4, Detroit bombed Baltimore 10-3, Chicago beat Los Angeles 2-1, Minnesota edged Kansas City 2-1 and Washington nipped Boston 1-0.

Pinson's first homer, in the sixth inning, put the Reds ahead 2-1, but Alex Johnson retaliated with a two-run homer in the Phillies' sixth.

Then the Reds struck in the seventh. John Edwards and Leo Cardenas rapped singles and one out later, Pete Rose singled across Edwards with the tying run. Pinson then drilled a three-run Lomer, his 23rd, over the right field wall.

The Cardinals lost a chance to climb when the Mets exploded for two runs in the seventh inning. Ed Kranepool doubled in Bobby Klaus, then scored the decisive run as pitcher Roger Craig picked up Ron Hunt's bunt and threw the ball past first base.

The victory, their 51st, tied the Mets' record set last season. Juan Marichal became the majors' second 20-game winner, reaching that mark with a five-hitter over the Colts. Marichal, who has lost seven games, also became the first Giant to win 20 games in consecutive seasons since Carl Hubbell did it from 1933 through 1937.

Marichal received all of the support he needed when the Giants scored two runs in the sixth inning on Jose Pagan's single and triples by Harvey Kuenn and Matty Alou.

Larry Jackson posted his 22nd victory against 10 defeats for the Cubs. Billy Cowan and Len Gabrielson contributed homers to the Chicago attack while Ron Campbell and Ernie Banks added triples. Tommy Davis drove in four runs with two homers for Los Angeles.

SANDWICH, England (AP) — The prospect of an all-American final in the 1964 British Women's Amateur Golf Championship loomed today as more than likely.

Four Americans, two British, one French girl and a Canadian led off in the quarter-finals over the 6,017-yard par 73 Prince's course, and the odds were in Uncle Sam's favor.

There was some obstacle ahead for the Americans, however. Three of them were bracketed together, with only one to survive the firing over the 18-hole quarter-final and semifinal matches today. Nancy Roth of Hollywood, Fla., who was drawn in the lower bracket was in the best position of the U.S. girls.

Miss Roth meets Canada's Joanne Goulet, and if she survives the crowd of 688 along with Billy Casper, third ranking money winner on the tour.

U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi was far back with a 72.

Auto Race Driver Dies in Crash

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — Jim Pardue, popular stock car race driver killed in a crash at Charlotte Tuesday, will be buried today in the cemetery at a little mountain church near North Wilkesboro.

His widow takes on the winner of the all-England battle between Bridget Jackson and Ann Rampton.

In the top bracket the Americans were virtually staring at each other. Phyllis Ann Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., engaged 19-year-old Catherine LaCoste of France. Barbara Fay White of Shreveport, La., took on Carol Sorenson of Janesville, Wis., in what promised to be the match of the day.

Wednesday's two rounds took their toll of some fine players. Among the victims were Brigitte Varangot of France, the defending champion, who lost 2 and 1 to Miss Roth, and England's Curtis Cup star Marley Spearman, who was knocked out by Miss Goulet 3 and 2.

Miss White, who has been at the peak of her game, lost some of her touch Tuesday but survived a poor round against Ireland's Ita Burke.

The question is: Are the defending Class AAA champions, the Pine Bluff Zebras, really as tough as they seem?

They tied Texarkana's tough Razorbacks (just as the Hogs did with Pine Bluff last year) and they've whipped everybody else they've played.

But now they go up against Fort Smith Northside, which has beaten everybody so far this year, too.

The question will be answered Friday night in Fort Smith, and that's a handicap in itself for the Zebras.

We were right .727 per cent of the time last week, and if that impresses you, give heed: Fort Smith 14, Pine Bluff 6.

The Grizzlies are looking more and more like the team to succeed Pine Bluff in the throne room.

Blytheville 20, West Memphis 14. A good area battle, but the Chickasaws riddled North Little Rock last week with passes.

Little Rock Hall 21, North Little Rock 7. But the Warriors may play Bobby Kinkadee for more than just the first half.

Little Rock Central 14, Jonesboro 7. The Tigers may let down, but not enough to do the Hurricane much good.

El Dorado 20, Springdale 6. Giving the Bulldogs a hint of what's to come in 1965.

Fayetteville 13, Subiaco 6. Provided Fayetteville doesn't lose another five fumbles.

Benton 24, Hot Springs 7. The Panthers are mauling average teams, like this Trojan entry.

Now, Class AA: Fort Smith, Southside 7, Huntsville 6.

Bentonville 12, Siloam Springs 0.

Harrison 14, Bald Knob 6. Mountain Home 7, Branson, Mo., 6.

Springfield, Mo., 14, Rogers 7. Van Buren 20, Alma 6.

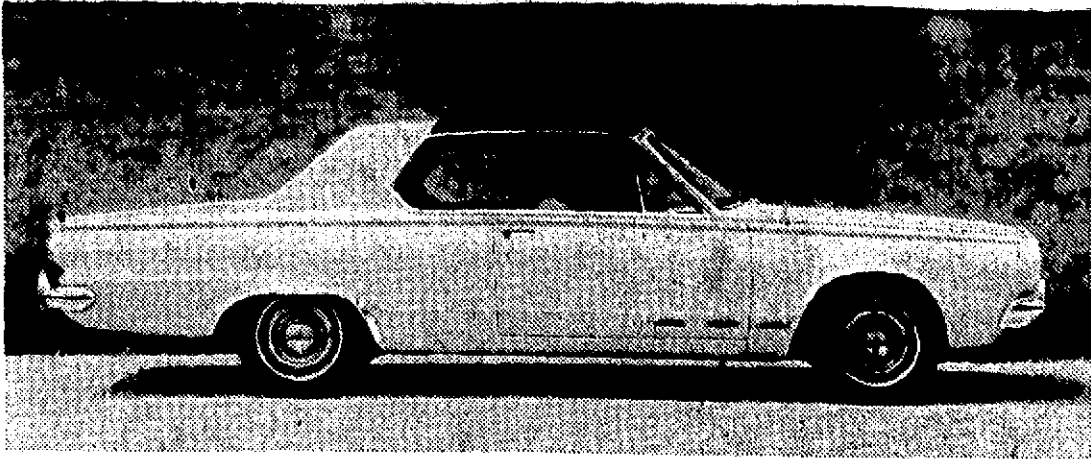

DeWitt 10, England 7. Forrest City 14, Paragould 12.

Helena 14, Marianna 7. Newport 7, Walnut Ridge 6.

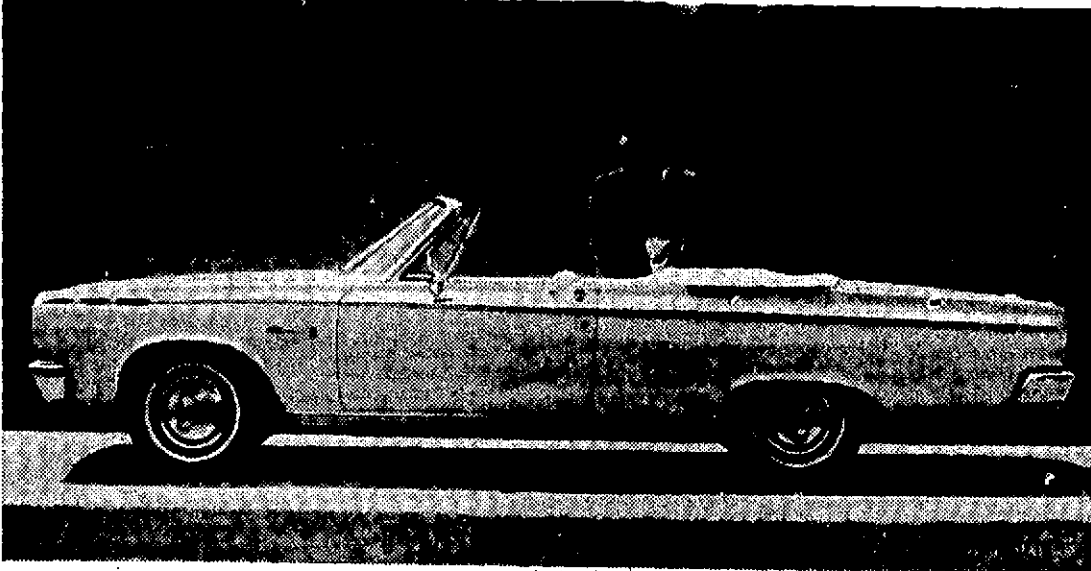

Stuttgart 14, Brinkley 0. Wynne 6, Parkin 0.

Rowland resigned from coaching in 1952 for an industrial job. He was special assistant to the vice president for personnel of Reynolds Aluminum Co.

He was famous for his quips and stories, delivered informally and in more than 2,000 speeches, most of them related to sports.

He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Nancy Ann, both of Little Rock. Funeral will be 1 p.m. Friday at Little Rock, with burial at Malvern, Ark.

Washington Cowed Into Submission

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The state of Washington has been cowed into submission. A year ago state earth-moving machines, building a freeway, dumped dirt on a cow path traversed by animals owned by John Nielsen of nearby Renton.

Nielsen hired Seattle attorney Joseph R. Matsen to unearth a defense. He did, explaining Wednesday that the state never had the right-of-way to the path it thought it did.

A settlement has been reached. Matsen said. The freeway will take another approach, bringing back bovine bliss.

Dodge comes on big for '65

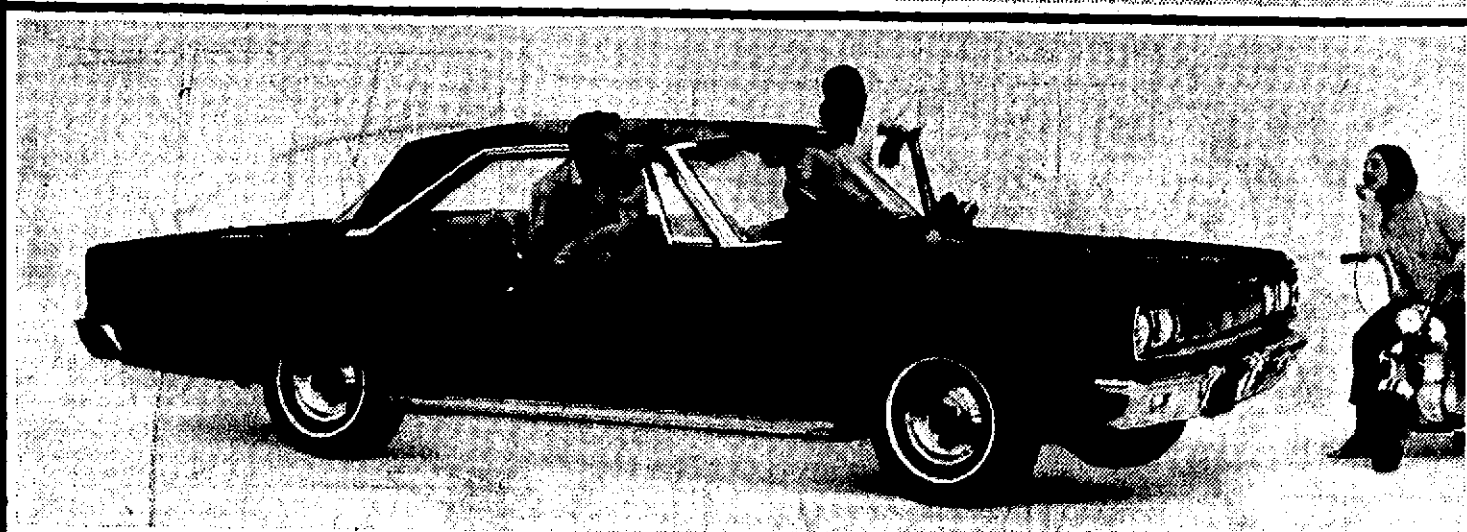

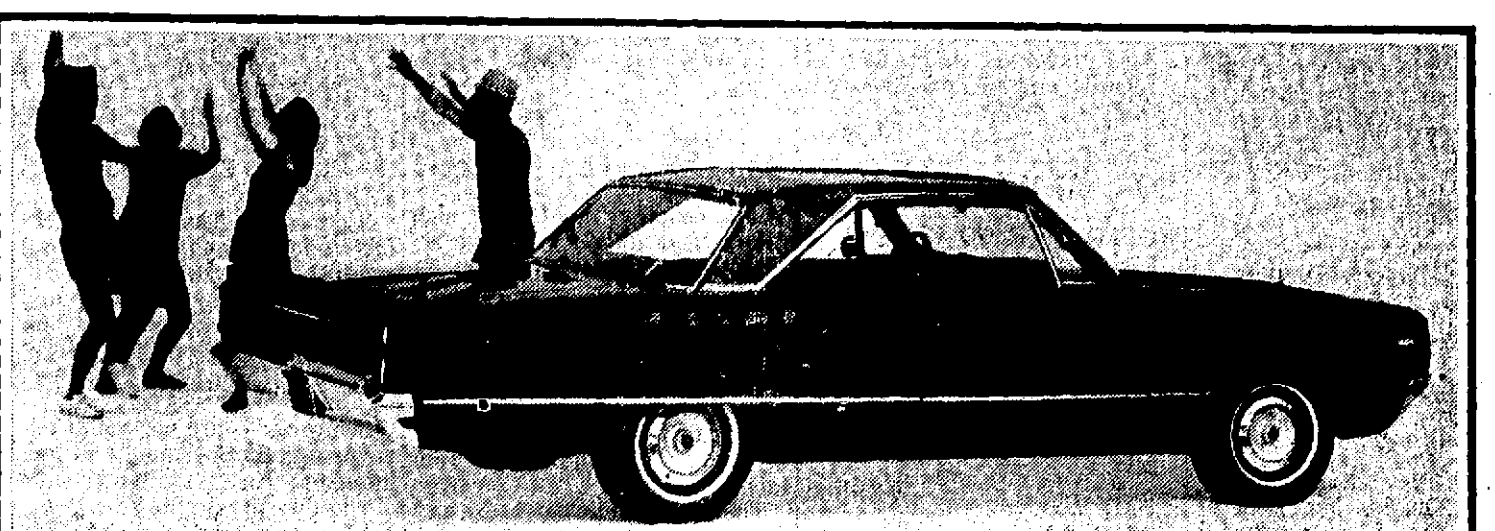

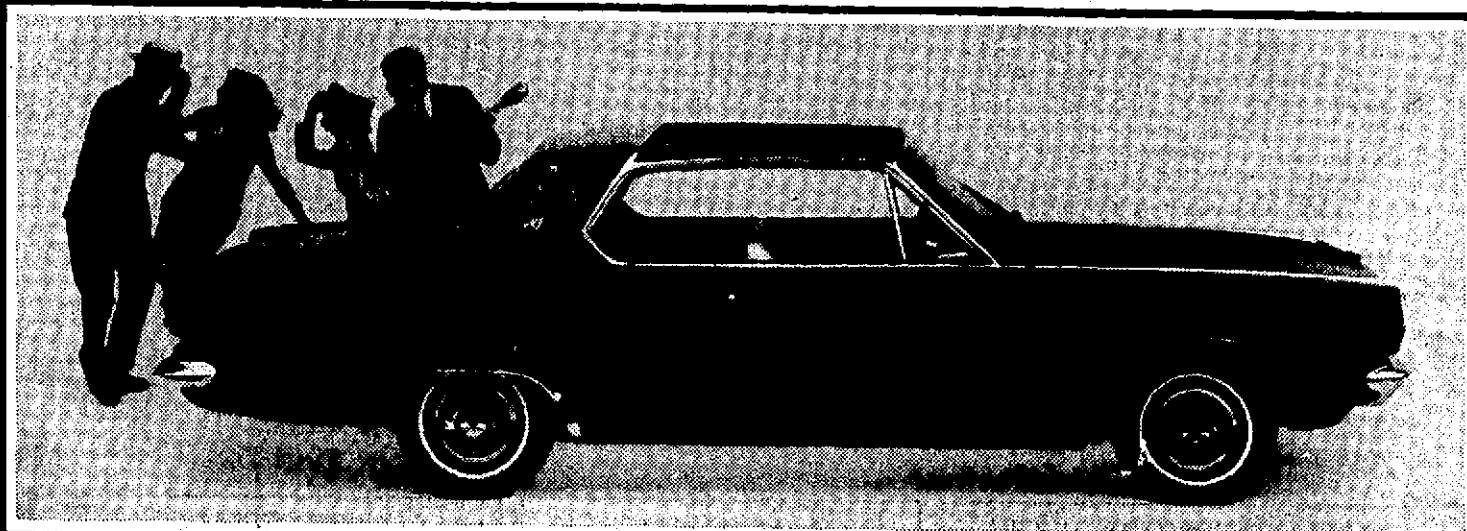

What does Dodge do after two record-breaking years in a row? Go for a third. Dodge comes on big for '65, with four brand-new cars that are big, quick, fresh and backed by the strongest warranty* in the business. See them.

'65 Dodge

DODGE DIVISION CHRYSLER MOTORS CORPORATION

'65 DART: The Dodge-size compact. If you'd like to live a little, we'd like to let you in on something big—Dodge Dart for '65. Big beauty. Big comfort. Big ride. And big savings. At your Dodge dealer's now.

'65 POLARA: Beautiful way to leave the low-price field. Inches bigger and a lot better-looking than anything near the price. With a standard 383 cu. in. V8 that thrives on regular gas. Why settle for less? Ask for Polara.

'65 CORONET: A hot new Dodge at a new lower price. An all-new car that's as roomy as a standard-size Ford or Chevy, yet priced right with Fairlane, Chevelle. With refreshing new styling. Oceans of room. Coronet '65—drive it.

'65 CUSTOM 880: If elegance were spelled in numbers, this would be it. From exclusive 6-window sedan to elegant convertible, this one will wear well with your appreciation of luxury and your sense of good taste.

HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

New Theater Tax

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway producers are pondering the effects of New York City's new occupancy tax on theater rentals.

The specified levy is 5 percent on annual rentals above $2,500. Producers argue that part of payments made to theater owners — a percentage of box office gross — are not rental but cover certain operating and maintenance costs.

The city previously had a direct 5 percent tax on tickets, but canceled that charge two years ago because of Broadway's plea for economic relief.

The 1965 Ford is the most-changed in the 15-year history of Ford Division. The traditional, round Ford taillight is replaced by a modernistic hexagonal shape in keeping with the crisp, elegant look of the new Ford. Luxury styling is combined with a luxury ride described as so smooth and so quiet, the heater and air conditioner fans had to be moved into the engine compartment because their low-toned whirr was distracting. A luxurious new Ford Galaxie 500

LTD series, shown above, features an interior of quality and style previously obtainable only in higher-priced cars. Five separate and distinct roof lines give greater distinctiveness to each of the 17 models than ever before. The complete line of 1965 Fords, two and four-door hardtops, sedans, convertibles and station wagons, will be introduced in Ford dealer showrooms on Friday, Sept. 25. See them at Hope Auto Company tomorrow.

A new look of size and motion is combined in the 1965 Fairlane, restyled from bumper to bumper for the first time since its introduction three years ago. Although new styling makes the middleweight Fairlane look bigger, it remains about the size of the 1965 Ford on the outside and the 1959 Ford on the inside. Improved ride and economy; new low profile tires for greater directional stability, better traction and longer life; significantly improved interior quietness; alternators and automatic chokes standard on all engines; and a complete line of options including low-cost air conditioning are features of all 1965 Fairlanes including the Fairlane Sports Coupe, shown above. Eight Fairlane models; hardtops, station wagons and sedans will be introduced in Ford Dealer Showrooms Friday, Sept. 25. See them at Hope Auto Company tomorrow.

Emphasis on Taxes to Change Some

By SA MDAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The emphasis on taxes is likely to change next year. For most taxpayers the pressure will be applied closer to home. And the chances are that one way or another most will pay as much, if not more, in taxes than this year.

Both political parties are promising some more federal tax cuts. In Washington the question will be what taxes and how much.

But at many a state capitol and city hall across the nation the search will be pressed still harder for more kinds of taxes, or heavier rates, or more hand-outs from the federal government, or more borrowing.

Some state and local officials are hoping the federal authorities will release some forms of taxation to them. This would let the local collectors spread into fields now held by Washington. Others are plugging for more aid to states and communities from the federal tax collection which they think will rise considerably if rates aren't cut further.

Both President Johnson and Treasury Secretary Dillon have proposed that next year federal excise taxes be revised and some lowered or dropped. Dillon says, "We have about 75 categories of such taxes on the books today, and their labyrinthine complexity requires, not the random repeal of a few taxes, but a thorough-going revision based on a comprehensive study of them all, which the Treasury already has well under way."

The President says some excise tax cuts, yet to be spelled out, will be proposed to Congress if he is elected.

The Republican candidate, Barry Goldwater, proposes further cuts in individual and corporate income tax rates. As a goal, he suggests a 25 per cent cut for individuals spread over five years.

Both the President and Dillon talk of possible income tax cuts, but without naming figures or giving flat promises.

All of this is based on the belief that federal government spending can be held down while total collections, even at lower rates, will rise because of increasing incomes and profits from growing prosperity.

At most state and local levels, however, the chances of holding down spending are slim indeed. Demands for services for growing populations, and for more services to more demanding citizens, multiply.

If Washington gives up some tax forms, such as excise levies on certain products, the states may be able to increase their own take in sales taxes. One way or another, they will be scrambling even harder to find funds to finance their increased spending.

Lid Clamped While RFK Campaigns

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee hopes to defuse a politically explosive investigation of the Justice Department and former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., whose committee ordered the inquiry Tuesday over his opposition, says he intends to try to keep anything from happening until after the November elections.

As chairman of the special subcommittee created to conduct the investigation, Celler will have a lot to say about when it gets under way, but he'll be under heavy pressure to act promptly.

Republicans, who offered the resolution ordering the investigation and backed it almost solidly in committee, would like to see it begun while Kennedy is campaigning for the U.S. Senate from New York.

The Teamsters Union, which has been the chief force behind the investigation move, would like to see action before President James R. Hoffa's conviction for jury-tampering is heard on appeal in December.

After the 20-13 vote that set the investigation in motion, Celler told newsmen: "Nobody asked for this investigation except those involved with the Teamsters Union. If it had not been for their agitation, there would be no investigation."

The Teamsters want the committee to look into charges that the Justice Department violated Hoffa's constitutional rights by its actions during his trial in Chattanooga. They first backed an investigation directed specifically to Hoffa's case.

New, Elegant Tokay Cheese Dessert Dip

Desserts with an elegant appearance don't always require a lot of ingredients or preparation time. An excellent case in point is "Tokay Cheese Dessert Dip."

Clusters of Flame Tokay grapes are served on dessert plates with small bowls of a dip combining cream cheese, cranberry juice cocktail and cardamom. Dip individual grapes into the mixture as a delightful finale for a hearty dinner. Pass an assortment of favorite cheeses and crackers to accompany this Continental dessert.

Fruit and cheese are ideal partners on any occasion, and the crisp texture of Tokays is particularly compatible with a host of popular cheeses. Low in calories yet quite filling, Tokays are also good snacks to tuck into lunch boxes and to enjoy between meals. The ruby-hued grapes halved and seeded turn fruit salads, meat sauces, pies and cakes into extra-special treats.

Wash Tokays; snip into small clusters. Combine remaining ingredients and turn into small bowls. Serve as dip for grapes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

One headlight on Police Chief James J. Robinson's car lacked sufficient candlepower, and another was out of alignment. Lights on Fire Chief Dan Simon's car were found to be out of focus.

Additional Poll Taxes Requested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Auditor Jimmie Jones said today 6,200 additional poll tax receipts have been requested by eight counties.

But there is still no indication, Jones said, that a new record in poll tax sales will be set this year. Deadline for purchase of the $1 voting slip for the general election Nov. 3 is Oct. 1.

Last year 633,000 voters qualified by purchasing poll tax receipts.

The additional receipts asked by the counties were: Clay 1,200; Craighead, 1,050; Crittenden, 3,900; Garland, 3,000; Phillips, 3,750; Poinsett 3100; Union 900 and Yell 300.

Fruit Out to Attract Shoppers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Apples, one of autumn's traditional trademarks, will be in heavy supply at fruit counters throughout the nation this opening fall weekend.

Food shoppers will also be greeted with attractive prices for other autumn fruits such as grapes and pears.

In the meat department, pork, poultry and beef should continue to provide best buys. One national chain is offering pork chops at 79 cents a pound, down 20 cents from last week, at its New York City area stores.

At the vegetable counters, celery, cucumbers, peppers, squash and sweet potatoes are in abundant supply. Among best buys should be cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and notatoes.

This year's heavy fruit crop also promises to bring shoppers attractive prices for canned and frozen fruit.

Fish buyers should find attractive prices in many stores for scallops, oysters, shrimp and halibut. One northeastern chain is offering halibut steaks at 49 cents a pound.

One good barbecue cook always parboils quartered or cut-up duckling about 20 minutes, before broiling it on the outdoor grill. Brush the duck with any sweet barbecue sauce you favor while it's broiling.

Highlights in History of Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 24, the 268th day of 1964. There are 96 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

This date in 1869 was disastrous "Black Friday" when Jay Gould, James Fisk and Abel Corbin appeared to have cornered most of the existing free stocks of gold in the United States. The government stepped in, dumping Treasury stocks of gold on the market to thwart the three financial buccanniers. The price dropped, but by noon the Wall Street crash came and thousands of businessmen were ruined.

(On this date:

In 1780, Benedict Arnold escaped to a British ship after attempting to betray West Point.

In 1789, George Washington appointed John Jay of New York the first chief justice of the Supreme Court.

In 1941, nine European nations and the Soviet Union pledged full allegiance to the Atlantic Charter.

Ten years ago — The U.N. General Assembly overrode British objections and voted to hear Greek demands for self-determination for the people of Cyprus.

Five years ago — The Budget Bureau informed President Dwight D. Eisenhower that the national budget would be in balance for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

One year ago — The Senate approved the nuclear test-ban treaty.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee has voted to continue for two years the Food for Peace program for disposing of U.S. farm surpluses overseas. Final congressional approval is expected.

President Johnson had asked that the program be extended for five years. In the past 10 years, $12.3 billion worth of agricultural products was shipped abroad at a cost of $17 billion.

The measure authorizes expenditure of $3.5 billion on the program over the next two years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new automobile accident report, challenging the theory that chances of a mishap increase in proportion to the rate of speed, says the key factor is the difference between a vehicle's speed and the average speed of other traffic moving in the same direction.

A report by Bureau of Public Roads experts — issued Tuesday — concluded that an automobile traveling 40 miles an hour on a highway with a 60-mile speed limit is just as likely to be involved in an accident as another car going 80.

Among other conclusions:

—Chances of an accident of a car going 20 miles an hour would be sharply higher — than either the 40 m.p.h. or 80 m.p.h. vehicle.

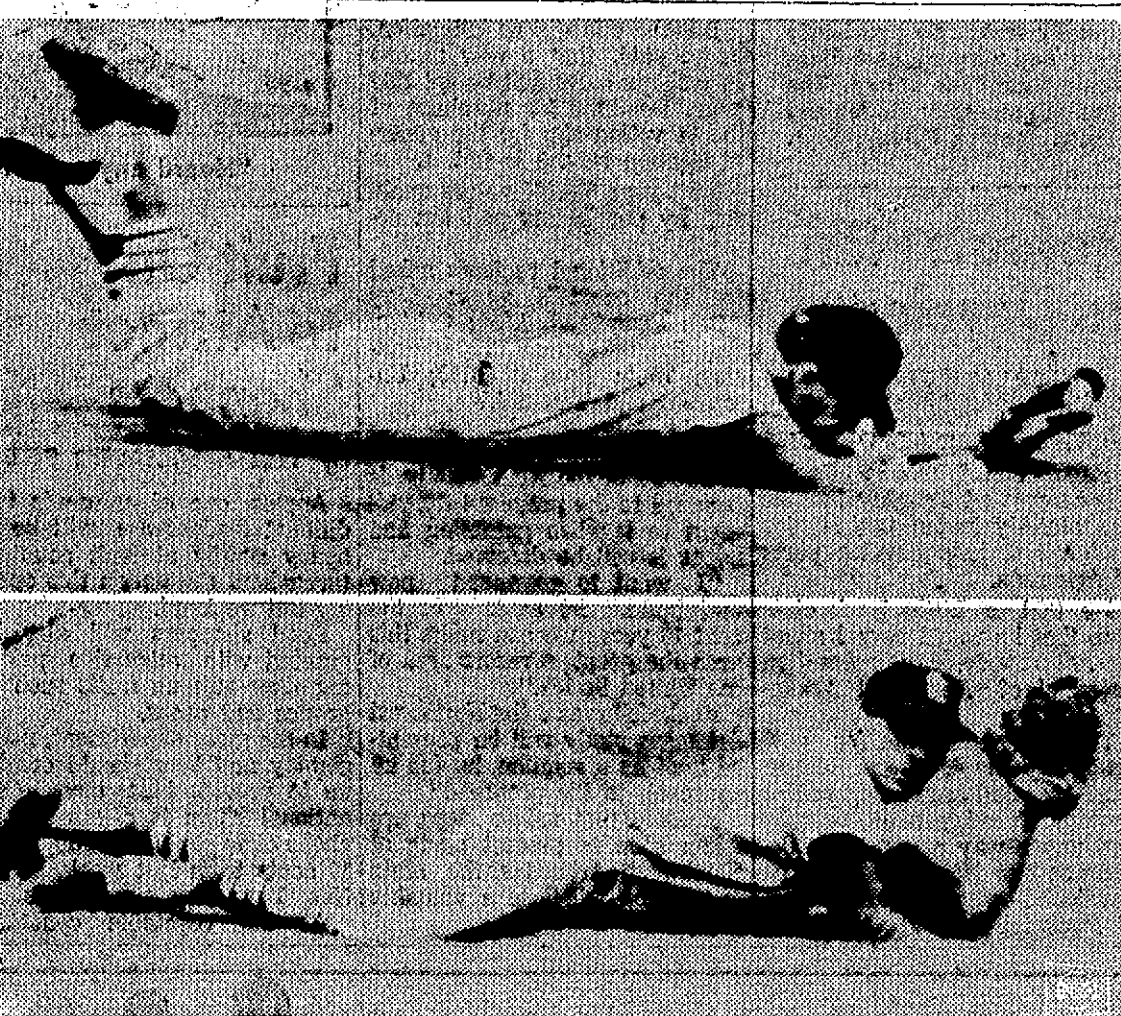

—The death rate is highest at very high speeds, but lowest at average speeds.

—Drivers under 25 or over 65 are more likely to be involved in accidents.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved Tuesday its last money bill of the present session — a $998,645,874 appropriation to finance various governmental activities including the war on poverty, and civil rights, food stamp and urban mass transit programs.

An entirely new appearance and major mechanical advances are presented in 1965 for the Mercury Comet—the world's durability champion. New front end sheet metal incorporates vertical headlamps, which are set off to advantage by the new grille. Pictured is the Caliente two-door hardtop, one of 11 models in Mercury Comet's three series for 1965.

BRAVO BRAND by John G. Igo

Copyright 1964 John G. Igo. Published by Mercury Publications, Inc.

Because of the brand on the horse Ives had used to reach Turtle, it was conceivable that Renwick after having talked to Ed Lawrence's messenger, might realize that the trouble had French's outfit behind it. But this, by itself would not fluster Sam Renwick.

There were plenty of ways Sheriff Renwick could take care of Jerry French, or anyone else who bothered him. That is, providing the whole community did not turn against Renwick. This was the big stick Frank Ives hoped to use. The pressure of public opinion. If that failed, or if stirred, public opinion drove him into a corner, the only thing left would be the violence of gunplay.

This was why Ives was going to Terrapin alone. He had to try to stop Renwick before someone bagged Juke Cotten.

Dark was three hours away when Ives turned into Terrapin still busy street.

A curtain of dust hung over the place in an eddying haze drifting like fog against the false-fronted buildings, constantly churned by the town's heavy traffic. The dust worked into everything a man had on him. No one appeared even to pay Ives much attention. Such bland indifference seemed unlikely without some word had been passed on by the sheriff.

But after cruising the street the better part of an hour Ives began to wonder if the lawdog of Terrapin—not to put too blunt an interpretation on it—was not deliberately avoiding him.

Maybe Renwick was waiting after all, until he had enough help to make sure he got the job well done.

The sun went down and day walked over the rim of the world. Frank doubly wondered if he would ever see another day. He had not forgotten his date with Renwick's wife, Polly, the demands she'd made upon him, the loan of that rifle.

It was still too early. "Nine o'clock," she had said. "I'll be in the store, Roper's Mercantile." It was about 8:30 now.

He remembered how her eyes had sought the grips of his gun, the frankness of her regard, the tight she couldn't hide—it had seemed to spring from the very marrow of her bones. She had so little and yet so much. She'd been flint to his flax. How could a man explain Polly Renwick? As Helen of Troy? A modern Circe?

A man could understand Renwick's interest in her, might appreciate even her anxious desire to be freed of the toils of this back-country ranch, the grind of years and bovine faces, the smothering quiet of what may have seemed an inescapable cage.

But wasn't there have been some better way? Frank, drawn to her, had felt the richness of her obvious gifts, the particular appeal and bodily grace that, in Ives at least, had struck so swiftly a responsive chord. Why had she thrown these advantages away? What chemistry of genes had brought about such folly?

The shadows of night were thickening. Flares had been lit. In their gusty light the town appeared to take a new lease on life. Wheeled traffic grew less insistent. Voice sounds replaced the groan and creak of heavy freighters. The walks grew more crowded as patronage flowed in and out of doors in the endless pursuit of excitement and pleasure. It was a wide, open town, at once boisterous and deadly.

Ives knew its moods.

He was tired of Sam's cunning and the games of Sam's woman. To make his fight on ground of Sam's choice would be giving the man too many advantages.

President of Venezuela Starts Well

By ROBERT MARRILLAS

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — President Raul Leoni has looked pretty good saddling the broncos, but how'll he do riding them?

Many Venezuelans, wondering whether their new president is a political genius or just plain lucky, are asking this question. A hint won't be long in coming. The Castroite guerrillas, who hold a key to stability in this country, have announced the start of a new "liberation" war. And by mid-October, culminating months of negotiation, a new coalition government will be in operation.

These two developments likely will provide critical tests to measure the big, affable Leoni. In his six months in office, nothing extraordinarily exciting or difficult has stirred his country wracked by almost continuous storms during the five year so Romulo Betancourt's incumbency.

The guerrillas still are operating in the mountains and villages of the interior, although not as spectacularly as before. Many think the terrorist hands are almost as busy as before, but that Leoni has weakened their propaganda worth by reacting more conservatively to their activities than Betancourt did.

There's nothing really exciting to Venezuelans about prosperity. By mid-1964, foreign exchange reserves were up to $836 million, a gain of $138 million over mid-1963 figures. The sum represents nearly a third of all gold and foreign exchange holdings in Latin America. On per capita bases, these reserves are higher than those in the United States.

Political stability is essential to the preservation and stimulation of this economic expansion. This is why, since taking office in March, Leoni and his lieutenants have been busy forming a coalition to give the ruling, moderately left Accion Democratica party the congressional majority it needs to legislate without trouble. A coalition is necessary because the last general elections gave the government only 66 of 156 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 23 of 51 in the Senate.

The new political partnership with two ex-rivals, the leftist Republican Democratic Union and the centrist National Democratic Front, should be installed by mid-October.

This is the forecast of the coalition's chief architect, Interior Minister Gonzalo Barrios, who says "no dramatic national policy changes" are contemplated under the new regime.

The country's oil policy ruling out new foreign concessions will you'll learn tonight what a yellow hound you've spent all these months being afraid to talk back to."

Convenience Foods Make Veal A Gourmet Spectacular

A well stocked pantry shelf can earn you a reputation as the best hostess in the neighborhood. By "well" stocked, we mean "carefully" stocked. A few specially selected convenience foods at your fingertips can work wonders for you, whether it's a planned meal for the family, or an impromptu supper for company. Being able to rise to any occasion such as these gains any homemaker her "hostess" reputation.

Take the case of the friend who unexpectedly came to town. And, of course, you invite to dinner. Plans for the meal were to be centered about veal cutlet. With the pantry yielding canned condensed cream of chicken soup (the perfect sauce) and canned tomatoes, you can turn that veal into a gourmet dish. Combine the veal, soup, tomatoes, and some cooked frozen Italian green beans with a bit of garlic and basil for added flavor, and serve over cooked noodles.

All you need to complete the meal is a big crisp salad of tossed greens, hot rolls, and lots of good hot coffee. Serve it buffet style for a relaxed and informal atmosphere.

COMPANY GOURMET VEAL

- 1 pound thinly sliced veal cutlet, cut into serving-size pieces
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium clove garlic, minced
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomatoes, chopped
- 1 package (9 ounces) frozen Italian green beans, cooked and drained
- 2 cups cooked noodles

In skillet, brown veal in butter with garlic. Add soup, tomatoes, and basil. Cover; cook 20 minutes or until meat is tender. Stir now and then. Add beans; heat. Serve over noodles. Makes 4 servings.

Three Killed in Texas Accident

RANGER, Tex. (AP)—Three Texas residents en route to Arkansas died Monday when two cars collided head-on on a rain-slicked highway east of here.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lee Dulaney of Midland and continue oriented toward eventual takeover of the giant industry that now produces nearly 93 per cent of Venezuela's $2.6 billion "export" earnings. The bulk of the foreign concessions expire in 1983, but there is talk that Venezuela, contemplating the slow growth of Mexico's nationalized oil industry, may attempt a new approach at operating the industry in partnership with foreign companies.

On foreign affairs, Barrios says diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and other Iron Curtain countries are not primary issues and may be taken up later if national interest requires it. Venezuela has diplomatic ties with Yugoslavia and Poland and there's a Czech trade mission here. Rejecting relations with Moscow last December, Betancourt said a Soviet Embassy here would mean a corresponding increase in Venezuelan security forces to watch Soviet diplomats.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The last time I saw Stanley Ring, he was puttering around his sheet-music store on Cherokee Avenue just around the corner from the busy Boulevard. It was like entering another era to visit his place. On the walls, in crates and piled in cardboard boxes in every corner was sheet music of a gentler, more melodic time.

Every song of your childhood and thousands more could be found in Ring's store. He claimed there were 450,000 pieces of sheet music and from the look of the place, it seemed true.

He was proud of his collection. On my first visit there, we went across the street to Musso and Frank's and he had apple pie and coffee and talked about his life. He told how he had started in New York as a singing newsboy and graduated into Broadway shows and vaudeville.

When vaudeville died, he sought work that would keep him close to music. That's how he happened to open his store in Los Angeles. Business was good, but he lost everything in a fire in 1943. His insurance man skipped out on him.

Ring decided on a gambit to get back in business. Although he knew nothing about the horses, he placed $2 longshot bets with bookies all over town — it was easier to do in these days. He netted $400, enough to open the Cherokee Avenue store.

"And I've turned a profit ever since," he said proudly.

I wrote a story for the AP about his unique collection — some of his songs dated the early 1800s and he had opera scores from the 1700s. When I dropped by his store a few weeks later, he was elated.

"Come and see these," he said, and I followed him up the rickety stairs to the loft. On his desk were stacks of envelopes from all over the United States. Most of the letters carried the same refrain: "could you send me a copy of a song I loved as a child. The words went something like this."

That was a month ago. This week I stopped by Ring's sheet-music store on one of my tours of the Boulevard. The windows, full of song sheets featuring Al Jolson, Nora Bayes and other bygone stars, were the same as when he opened the store 21 years ago.

But the door was closed and on it was a seal by a county officer. Hanging inside was a sign in fine pencil: "Closed. Mr. Ring has passed away."

One of the elderly ladies who helped Mr. Ring in the store told me she didn't know what would happen to the music. He claimed to have had a filing system, but it seemed to be largely in his head. All he needed was a lyric or a fragment of melody and he would pick out the proper sheet from a dusty pile.

Charges Are Heaped on Cult Leader

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Federal agents seized Tuesday the property of John Robert Harrell, 42, an Illinois anti-communist religious cult leader who was arrested west of here Saturday.

Agents of the Internal Revenue Service and Federal Bureau of Investigation seized weapons, automobiles, chain saws, money and other objects at Harrell's farm at Strawberry, 30 miles west of here.

The land also was placed under seizure order, which was served on Harrell's mother, Mrs. Natalia Harrell of Williford.

The seizure came after the IRS filed a tax lien of $257,429 against Harrell for unpaid taxes in 1955-61.

Harrell was held in jail here in lieu of $25,000 bond on charges of harboring Dion Gaylord Davis, a Marine deserter, in 1961.

More than 100 federal and Illinois agents raided Harrell's harricaded mansion at Louisville, Ill., to apprehend Davis, then 19, in August, 1961.

Harrell had been sought since November, 1963, when he failed to appear for trial on the charge. The checkout of a routine complaint led to Harrell's arrest.

About $5,000, most of it in silver dollars, was seized by agents, who also removed rifles, pistols, several hundred rounds of ammunition, hand rollers, knives, bayonets and electric drills from the farm where Harrell had lived for about a year.

Mrs. Flora Alice Rowan, 57, Harrell's housekeeper, and Mrs. Dorothy Payne, 24, her daughter, also were arrested and held at Little Rock in lieu of $25,000 for harboring Harrell.

Todd Harrell, the cult leader's son, led officers to a grave where the body of Larry Lee Payne, 6, son of Mrs. Payne, was found Sunday. Todd Harrell said he and his father buried the body after the boy drowned in a water-filled barrel. An autopsy revealed no fractures, authorities reported.

About 100 persons who were members of Harrell's Conservative Christian Church lived at his heavily armed mansion at Louisville when it was raided. There was little resistance, the FBI said.

Cereal Caramel Apples Fine Snack

Apples on a stick are crunchy, chewy and tangy all at the same time. The crunch is high protein cereal — the "chew" is melted caramels — the tang is from tart-sweet apples.

When the children come trooping home after school, whether it be the Halloween season or just any brisk fall day, offer the hungry little homesteaders Cereal Caramel Apples. They are a fine nutritional food bargain now when apples are in their prime. You'll be doing your budget a favor, too, for breakfast cereals' thrifty average cost of about two cents per ounce is a bargain. Happily, the good grain flavor of breakfast cereals, like high protein cereal, make them suitable for combining with many foods. A simple one-two-three step of skewering the apples, dipping them in melted caramels, then in crushed high protein cereal is all it takes to make these delicacies.

Cereal Caramel Apples
6 small eating apples
6 large wooden skewers
35 butterscotch caramels (about 1/2 pound)
2 tablespoons water
3 cups high protein cereal, crushed to make 2 1/2 cups

Wash and dry apples. Plunge wooden skewers in center top of apples. Combine caramels and water in small saucepan. Heat slowly until caramels melt; stir until smooth. Cool slightly. Dip each apple into caramel sauce and turn slowly to coat apple evenly; lift above pan and drain off excess caramel, turning apple constantly. Roll in cereal, pressing cereal into caramel. Place in refrigerator until caramel is firm, 2 to 4 hours. For longer storage, keep in cool, dry place. Yield: 6 caramel apples.

head County Jail here on $25,000 bond on a charge of harboring a Marine deserter in 1961. Federal and Illinois officers stormed his mansion in Louisville, Ill., in 1961 to arrest the deserter, Dion Gaylord Davis.

Harrell was charged then with harboring a deserter and released on bond, but he did not appear for trial.

The bail jumping charge filed today by U.S. Atty. Carl Feickert of East St. Louis, Ill., carries a $15,000 bond. The Internal Revenue Service filed an income tax lien of $257,429 at Walnut Ridge, Ark., against Harrell for unpaid taxes in 1955-61.

Harrell reportedly became a wealthy selling prefabricated mausoleums. He headed an anti-communist religious sect in Illinois and his mansion was heavily armed. The FBI said he was in a state of armed insurrection against the United States when it entered his fortress to get the AWOL Marine.

Harrell disappeared shortly after that and his followers contended he had been kidnapped by communists. But Sheriff Kenneth Guthrie of Walnut Ridge found him in a rural farmhouse Saturday.

On Saturday, the body of a 5-year-old boy was found in a shallow grave near the house. An autopsy showed today that the body had no broken bones or skill fractures. Various organs were still being examined, said Coroner W. C. Bryan of Walnut Ridge.

Also arrested at Harrell's house were Mrs. Flora Alice Rowan, 57, his housekeeper, and Mrs. Dorothy Payne, 24, her daughter. They were held at Jonesboro on $25,000 bond for harboring a fugitive. They were transferred to a jail in Little Rock Monday night.

Todd Harrell, John Robert Harrell's son, led officers to the body in the grave and said the boy, Larry Lee Payne, son of Mrs. Dorothy Payne, had drowned in a water-filled barrel. Todd Harrell said he and his father buried the body.

The body was returned to Walnut Ridge today and buried in a cemetery with simple graveside services.

No charges have been filed in the death.

Jr. College Amendment Called Hoax

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, charged today that the ballot title for Constitutional Amendment 57 to authorize community junior colleges is a hoax.

The amendment will be on the Nov. 3 general election ballot.

Rozzell said no authority is needed to establish junior colleges and that the purpose of the amendment is to pave the way for a property tax to support such colleges.

"The most serious defect in the amendment lies in the lack of limitations imposed upon the general assembly in prescribing the method for levying a property tax for the support of these institutions," Rozzell said.

Rozzell said the AEA does not oppose such colleges. But he said the proposed amendment contains some flaws.

For one thing, he said, under the amendment, only the first levy of a property tax must be approved by a local option election. After the first levy, he said, "the general assembly, if it sees fit to do so, could authorize the boards of directors of these institutions—or anyone else—to increase, reduce or repeal the property tax."

Rozzell said in a speech prepared for delivery before a civic club that steps to establish community colleges on a sound basis should wait so that sound colleges would "supplement existing education institutions by providing creditable, diversified programs and minimal cost to the student and to the taxpayers."

The energy and resources of the state should be concentrated first on developing more adequate elementary and secondary schools. He said the university and state colleges are under-financed and under-staffed.

Fifty thousand students are in Arkansas high schools "where curriculum is so limited they cannot meet minimum standards of the North Central Association."

And, he added, the average salary of classroom teachers in the state is $2,600 below the national average.

Rozzell said community colleges are important, but they must be established along predetermined guidelines if they are to be effective.

"They cannot be scattered promiscuously over the land in response to political whims or social pressures," he said.

Ginnings Behind in Arkansas

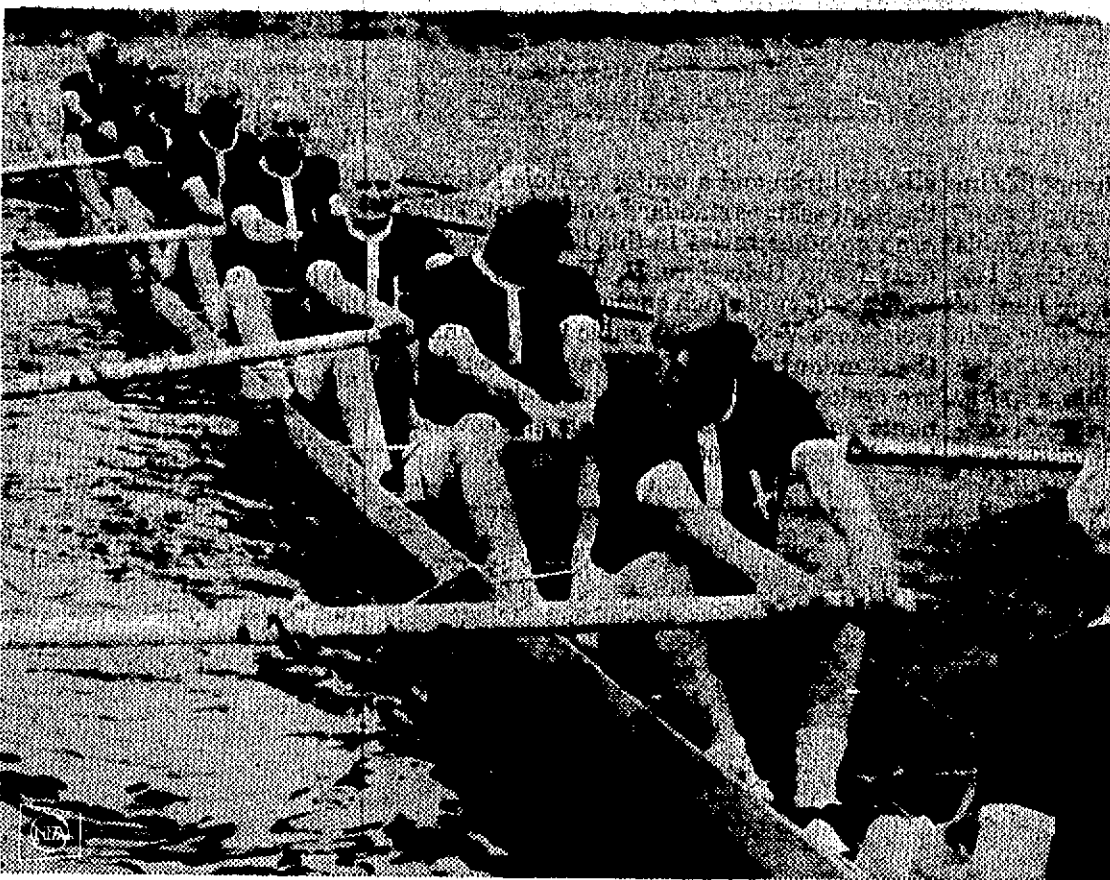

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau reported today that 2,075,418 running bales of 1964-crop cotton had been ginned prior to Sept. 18. This compared with 2,585,352 to the similar date last year.

Ginnings have been running below last year's level because the crop is later.

The ginnings by states this year and last, respectively, included: Arkansas 95,654 and 170,526.

Johnson, in an address prepared for six labor union audiences — five of them hearing him on closed-circuit television — said that "the heart of our American way of life... is under attack — and those who love it must go forth now to save it."

The President said "Americans are not presented with a choice of parties," nor with "a servatism." He went on:

Historians May Be Missing an Important Fact That Pets Lead and the People Follow

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Pets lead, people follow. This is part of the story of our civilization which might be missed by historians. The trouble with having an animal in the house is that over a period of time the presentment of the people and the ambition of the animal get rather intermingled. That's the situation in the house where I put my heart. We have a conflict there. "You are a born leader, Harold," my mother used to say while patting me self-confidently on my back and turning to her more necessary knitting. "Yes, yes, my son," she murmured consolingly but absent-mindedly. "You're a natural commander of men."

Well, of course, as all mankind knows, there is a lot of truth in what she said. I am a born leader and a natural commander. What has confused my gifts is that I have to deal with an acquired leader and an unusual commander. Her name is Lady Dottie and she is a cat and she has been with us for a number of years. She started as a small, furry, squirming uncertain kitten. Then she moved insidiously into authority, as all feminine things do. Recognizing the fact that I am a born leader, she used to rub against my leg in plaintive self-assurance. If a stranger entered our realm she would leap in-

Memorials Brings Hassle in Capital

An AP Special Report By MARTHA COLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Just mention "memorial" in Washington, and the battle lines start forming before the bugle blows. Everybody has a different idea about what it should be and where it should be. It's been that way ever since Congress and the country had a hard time deciding where the capitol city should be in the first place. The current hassle is over a memorial to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and it's been going on for two years. Quietly, though, two statues have disappeared from the east steps of the Capitol, and there's no outcry to return them. They made the American Indians unhappy. One of the statues, called Rescue, portrays Daniel Boone protecting a pioneer mother and child from an Indian brandishing a tomahawk. The other, called Discovery, shows Christopher Columbus pushing aside an almost nude Indian maiden. For years Indians have complained about "those things," said Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla. When the east front of the Capitol was extended in 1958, the two statues were removed and the extension commission decided to let them repose in limbo a while. They're in wood-crated oblivion behind the Capitol power plant. Many have criticized the out-of-the-way place for the wom-

In 1910 it created a permanent commission of fine arts to advise on designs and sites. But everybody gets in on the act. The commission chose for the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial a design consisting of eight big concrete tablets ranging to 165 feet in height. "Instant Stonehenge" — referring to the Druid tablets of England — somebody called it. The design was scaled down and a statue of F.D.R. added. The four sons of F.D.R. said they still didn't like it. And that's where it stands today. The sons' words were mild to what the daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt said about various memorials proposed for her father. One suggestion in 1961 would have made the proposed cultural center here a memorial for her father. "The hell with the cultural center as a memorial," the 76-year-old Alice Roosevelt Longworth said of that. A big celestial sphere on Theodore Roosevelt Island in the Potomac River? Can't Find Reason for Plane Crash
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board said Tuesday it had been unable to determine why a light plane crashed in the Gulf of Mexico last year, apparently killing two Arkansas and Texas insurance executives. The plane apparently crashed July 20, 1963, on a flight from Brownsville, Tex., to San Antonio at night. The newly-purchased, five-place, twin-engine Piper Aztec disappeared while flying over Padre Island. Debris from the plane was found the next day in the gulf, 21 miles east of Port Isabel, Tex. No other wreckage was found and the bodies were not discovered. The crash is presumed to have killed Charles Childre, 48, of San Antonio, Tex., president of First Security Life Insurance Co. and Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Little Rock, and Texas Continental Life Insurance Co. of San Antonio. It also killed E. W. Samuels, 60, of San Antonio, treasurer of the Texas firm. Tweed's Fate William Tweed, the New York City political boss was jailed, but escaped to Spain. Another minute or so passed and it was time to yelp again. He decided it was also time to investigate.

Their loss is against his office employees marrying each other, hence the great deception of "The Cara Williams Show." In the first episode, Miss Williams, a not-so-bright secretary, lets slip that she has a husband, quickly elaborates that he's in the cloak and dagger business, in fact is a member of the CIA.

Secretary and jazzy-talking neighbor, pretending to be husband, visit the boss in the evening, get caught there without gasoline during a rainstorm and are sent to the guest room for the night. Real husband arrives, providing transportation. Boss remains galled.

Some lines are very funny, but taste occasionally slips toward the borderline.

CBS also had an hour-long special Wednesday night, "The Presidency: A Splendid Misery."

It was a solid civics-history lesson, interesting but not terribly exciting. Six actors and a narrator, using a desk and few other props, recited some of the words our presidents have spoken and written about their jobs. The show began with Washington's statement that on assuming the presidency he felt like a man on the way to the gallows and Harding's that the White House is a jail and the president a prisoner.

Format of the program was to examine the federal balance of power, its worth and its ability to frustrate a chief executive — presidents battling Congress and presidents battling the Supreme Court; presidential powers granted and assumed from the Constitution; power over the military, and the often wearisome power to fill appointive office.

Most of the words quoted were from presidents early in our nation's history — Washington, Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, Jackson, Lincoln.

As might be expected, some of Lincoln's remarks were used for comedy relief. About the comforting.

Hartman Man Dies in Wreck

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Earl Stockton, 50, of Hartman, was found dead near the Hunt town community Tuesday after his truck left the road, went down an embankment and into a pond.

State Police said Stockton walked from the accident scene nearly a mile into a section of woods, where his body was found. Cause of death was not listed.

At the end narrator Fredric March noted that though presidents complain about the burdens of office, Americans are fortunate that there still are good men willing to endure the presidency. Not a highly original remark, it is true, but very comforting.

Issues Big Trouble With Campaign

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the troubles with this presidential campaign is the issues. They're scattered all over the lot and President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater are not spelling out answers clear enough to keep in your head. There are two issues above all.

First — and obviously this is always the No. 1 issue in any campaign — is which man can be best trusted with the presidency?

The Democrats are doing their best to get across an idea that Goldwater is too reckless to be trusted with it at all.

Goldwater is helping to keep the issue alive for them by endlessly insisting he is not trigger-happy.

Second — do the people want a broad federal government involved with the states and many federal programs, particularly programs for the general welfare?

Johnson insists big government is necessary. He said so again this week.

Goldwater has built much of his claim on the presidency in plugging for states' rights. He wants less federal government, more dependence on states and local communities. To do what's needed, and less, not more or broader, social welfare programs. Those are the two main issues.

But if voters are getting bored listening to the arguments it's because the two men have been talking in such broad generalities it's hard to pin them down on what they'd do.

About the two most specific things Goldwater has said have been his promises to end the draft and cut income and corporate taxes 25 per cent over five years.

The Johnson administration has indicated it would like to end the draft, if it thought that possible, but so far it shows no signs of thinking so.

Johnson may have been disturbed that Goldwater's tax-cut promise had voter appeal.

This week he promised to cut excise taxes if elected. He is not promising an income tax cut. He just got an $11.5-billion tax cut through Congress this year, a tax cut Goldwater voted against.

Other issues have also been treated as major ones.

For instance, Goldwater has said one of the major issues would be corruption in government. He has been banging away at that, but always obliquely.

He mentioned the Bobby Baker and Billie Sol Estes cases, "government contracts not going to the lowest bidders," and a "cloud of scandal over the White House."

"DEAR ABBY"

SHE LEADS A DOG'S LIFE!
By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: Is there such a thing as a retarded poodle? We got this beautiful white miniature French poodle a year ago when it was only five weeks old, and it isn't any better trained today than the day we got it. It still wets all over. We can't seem to keep it off the furniture or to get it to let us know when it wants to go outside. Abby, I can't live like this any more. That dog has ruined every carpet in the house, all of the furniture, and every bedspread. I told my husband I think we should give it away, but he says he would move into the garage with the dog before he gave it away. I like dogs, but this is ridiculous! What do you advise?

MRS. A.
Dear Mrs. A.: Ask your vet what's wrong with the poodle. If the vet says your dog is trained to the capacity of its intelligence, then by all means let your husband move into the garage with the poodle. They deserve each other.

Dear Abby: Do you think it is proper for a girl to wear shorts on a date? Most of my girl friends say they don't see anything wrong with it, but their mothers don't agree with them. My mother says she thinks it is okay on special occasions like an outdoor barbecue if it is a responsiveness with numerous opinion.

PATTI
Dear Patti: I agree with your mother. But it depends on the shorts. I have seen some short shorts that were not long enough to be worn in public.

Dear Abby: My husband, age 74, is a retired school teacher. Since his retirement he has had much time on his hands, and he uses it largely to carry on correspondence with a number of former pupils. Almost all of his correspondents are women. I have seen a few letters he has written to them. (He proudly shows them to me.) They are lengthy, flowery and full of affection. He literally BEGS them to write to him. I am not jealous, heaven knows, after 50 years with him, because he has

But so far, with Goldwater these have been innuendoes. He hasn't shown specifically their connection with the White House.

Johnson, a tough and seasoned politician, is ignoring the innuendoes.

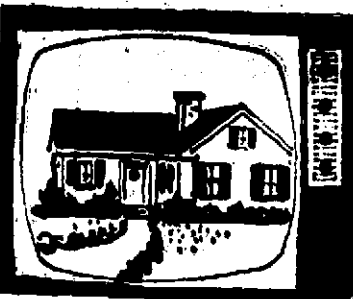

He may think it smarter not to help Goldwater keep these points in the public mind by answering the senator or talking of them.

Goldwater has called "foreign policy a major issue in this campaign" and insisted "it must be discussed."

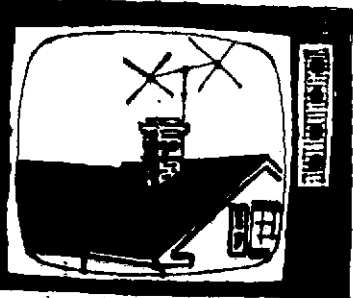

He has been critical of the administration's handling of Viet Nam, Laos, communism, Cuba, the Berlin wall.

How would he solve them? Here again he is not specific. The Democratic administration, which has been wrestling with these problems, isn't promising flat victories.

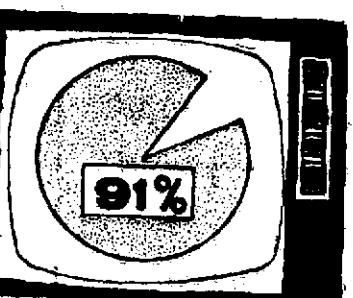

Since the campaign is still young, maybe Johnson and Goldwater will get down to cases before it's over.

The United States has a total of 56,704,500 homes, of which...

...$1,733,200 have one or more television sets. This amounts to...

BIG SMALL SCREEN—In its annual September survey of television homes, the American Research Bureau reports that the total increased by 1,360,100 during the past year. Chart above shows proportion of television homes to non-television homes in this country. California leads every state with an estimated 5,276,900 homes with television.

MORRILL, Ark. (AP) —

ther of the bride always cry at her daughter's wedding?

Dear Abby: Wondering. Maybe it's because they've heard that girls tend to marry men just like their fathers.

LONG-SUFFERING WIFE
Dear Wife: I doubt if your husband cares whether his correspondents are women or men as long as he gets letters. It's not surprising that most of his letters are from women, however. They are far more faithful letter writers.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Dear Abby: Why does the mo-

Sheriff Martin Hawkins asked today for a grand jury investigation of petitions filed in behalf of three independent candidates for Conway County office.

He was joined in the request to Circuit Judge Wiley Dean by the three officials the independent candidates are opposing, County Clerk C. C. Brewer, Circuit Clerk Mildred Richardson and Assessor W. O. Hice.

In a letter to Dean the men said they had hired a handwriting expert who told them that on 40 of 56 petitions more than one name had been written by the same person.

The petitions qualified: Leon Brents as a candidate against Brewer, Gene Sherwood against Richardson and Dwight Wiley against Hice.

Rockefeller Has Busy Schedule

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller and his campaign bus are scheduled to visit seven counties today through Saturday in his drive to win Arkansas governorship on the Republican ticket.

Today he goes to Saline, Grant and Hot Spring counties. Friday it's Craighead and Mississippi and Saturday it's Prairie and Arkansas counties.

The letter said that petition circulators had signed an affidavit that they knew each signer and knew him to be a qualified voter.
